

To Whom It May Concern

Sunil Fotedar has worked in a team managed by me and in other teams working closely with me since November 2003, at Lockheed Martin Information Technology on a federal contract with the Social Security Administration (SSA). His work has been in the capacity of a requirements analyst and documentation expert. During this time his work ethic has been excellent, and he has performed all work assigned to him in a timely manner with superior results. He has been very effective in working in a team environment and in working closely with the customer. Mr. Fotedar's strong grasp of technical concepts in web development has been evident in his work on requirements, design and user guidelines documents for SSA's Internet Architecture framework.

Mr. Fotedar's dedication and quality of work in his position has been instrumental in the team meeting several deadlines during the past year. He was strongly commended by several managers on the team for his ability to turn around projects given to him and deliver a high quality product each time. Mr. Fotedar's services were also requested by another team on the contract, and under a tight deadline, he provided an outstanding deliverable to the client, getting a strong commendation from both his Lockheed Manager and the customer. Mr. Fotedar's dedication, technical expertise in the information technology field, and his ability to manage his work within tight schedules will be valuable assets to any position that he is hired for.
